

Mila loved Dad's little shoe shop. Sneakers waited on the shelves, and colorful laces curled in jars. Every afternoon, she hurried there with a new story to tell.

Dad could mend a floppy sole or rescue a broken strap. Mila sorted the laces. But lately, the doorbell hardly rang. People walked past with bags of brand-new shoes.

One rainy evening, only one pair of worn sneakers remained on the bench. Dad had just enough supplies to repair them. He rubbed his tired eyes. Mila put away her crayons.

Free sample from a book by C. Solorzano

Keep reading. Keep coloring.

Mila and the Midnight Menders

Who is fixing the shoes while everyone sleeps? Join Mila and her dad as they discover two tiny helpers - and a way to thank them.

The complete paperback includes 24 story-and-coloring scenes, with blank backs behind the coloring pages. Designed for ages 5-8. English and Spanish editions are sold separately.

Find the complete English edition on Amazon https://www.amazon.com/dp/B0HQ2CNBF3

This free sample contains the first three story scenes. Print the sample single-sided at actual size (100%). Crayons and colored pencils are recommended.

You may print these sample activity pages for home or classroom use and share this complete, unmodified sample PDF for free. Please do not sell the sample or reuse its artwork separately.